INTERNATIONAL CACHE

Hyde Park Corner goes global with its latest expansion

With labels like Versace, Longchamp and Jigsaw – exclusively launching here for the first time in South Africa – as well as favourites such as Paul Smith and Emporio Armani, Hyde Park Corner's new wing, Cortina Court, is fast turning into a fashion hotspot. Beauty lovers aren't left out: the Edgars Cosmetic Gallery, a concept store housing the world's best high-end products, is now open for business. In true fashionista style, the centre recently also hosted the Annual Style Awards, where the country's top trendsetters were admired and awarded. HIGH ART

Architect Adam Hoets plays with nature and industry to redefine lighting

In the beginning was the chandelier, a canopy of crystals and light, the symbol of glamour in its heyday. In a contemporary metamorphosis, architect Adam Hoets has redefined it. He calls partly on nature for form – imagine giant blossoms or a Portuguese man-of-war – but takes bold steps with raw materials. Industrial ball-chain is attached to laser-cut steel frames to create silvery pendants that each becomes more the centrepiece of a space than simply the source of illumination. Dramatic and original, Willowlamp's new editions demand a room reorientation. Call 021 447 8529 or visit willowlamp.co.za for details.

SALIENT GREEN

Make your home a coveted space with artisan-crafted furniture focal points

From fashion runways to décor look books, it's evident that the world of design is going gaga for green. Some say it's because the colour signifies luxury while others believe it to evoke a sense of tranquillity and freshness. Either way, interiors brand Bespoke Global – who has Kirsten Dunst and Benjamin Bratt, among others, as clients – is right on trend. We think you'll agree that their artisan-crafted Zelouf+Bell Oak Leaf Console, in particular, perfectly exemplifies what experts say the colour green stands for.
